Building Tradition . . .

Foreword — Tradition is a word of many meanings. As high school students, we often believe that tradition is the perpetrator of homework, detentions, and P. E. suits. And tradition is indeed a factor in our customs. But tradition is far more than merely a repetition of the past; it offers us valuable lessons in our lives today and holds a promise of solidity for our collective future. At Limestone, past and present students, faculty members and administrations have created a tradition that belongs to us alone. Since Limestone is a relatively young school, our traditions are relatively young as well. Among the many traditions that we repeat year after year, homecoming is probably the one that has existed the longest. Even when the school was in its first years, students who were with the class that remained at Manual came to Limestone for a homecoming reunion with the members of the class who had been separated by the formation of the new school district. Since most of the people reading this book will see things only in terms of four years, some of the more recent activities will have more meaning. The Madrigal Dinner Performances celebrated their tenth anniversary this year with a special reunion dinner for all of the singers who had taken part in past years. A newer tradition is the annual drive to monetarily support Easter Seals and the crippled children. Such things as Spirit Week, Miss Photogenic, TWIRP Week, and Prom, along with winning teams in athletics and academics, form the core of what we fondly refer to as our traditions. In keeping with tradition, the AMULET — itself a tradition — expresses through pictures and copy, some of the content of the school year that is repeated over and over again, year after year, as tradition.

Mr. Gordon Wassell

Limestone Graduate Successful Teacher

Mr. Wassell supervises bus loading after school.

Mr. Gordon Wassell, who graduated from Limestone in 1966, has been on the teaching staff for the past thirteen years. Following in the activities that he pursued while a student, Mr. Wassell has been one of the Student Council advisers for the past twelve years. Carrying on with some of the things he learned as a member, Mr. Wassell has helped the Student Council direct student activities and promote school spirit in all school events. He has spent untold hours, after school and on weekends, working with students in painting, decorating, and preparing for major school functions.

Mr. Wassell is known as a superior teacher who is greatly admired by his students of sociology. His units on death and social problems are particularly popular with his pupils. Also, Mr. Wassell is very well liked by his colleagues to whom he is affectionately known as "Wally."

For thirteen years Mr. Wassell has braved the elements of the environment while directing traffic and supervising the loading of the buses after school. He has been vocal in teacher organizations and has been a strong proponent of quality education.

For your service to students, as a friend, teacher, and counselor, and for your devotion to the improvement of education, the AMULET staff proudly dedicates the 1984 AMULET to you, Mr. Gordon Wassell.

. . .Fly!

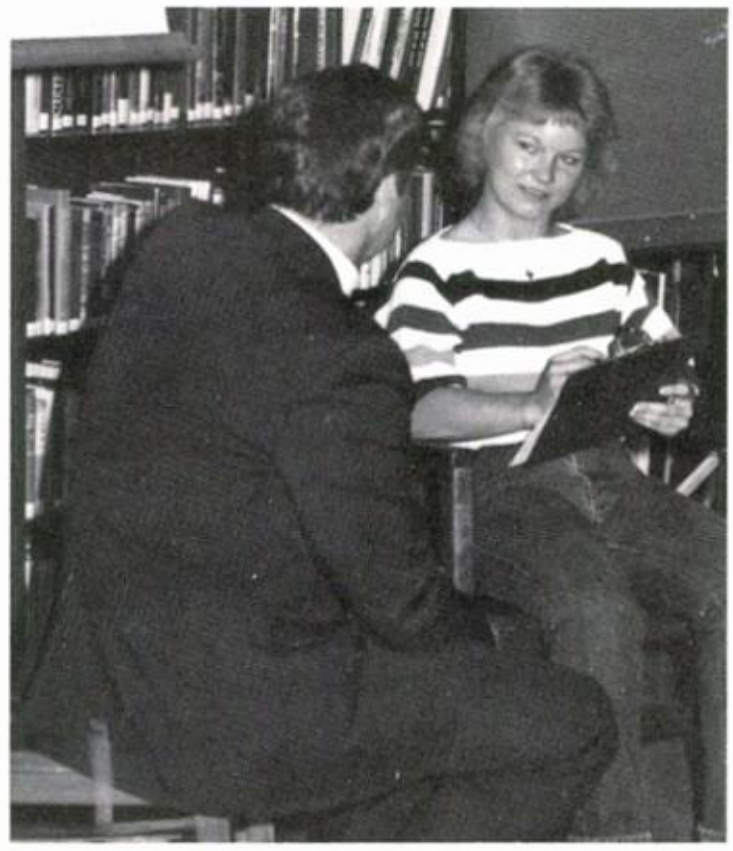
Valedictorian Eric Bjorklund works on an assignment in physiology class.

"Many people have the idea that those who succeed in academics are somehow made to do well by their parents or peers. Speaking for myself, I have to take exception to this notion. The only person who puts pressure on me is me. The drive to excel must come from within, not from any outside influence. No one can force a person to put out their best effort. When students are going through elementary school, they reach a point where studying and hard work become a necessity in order for a grade to be maintained. At that point a decision is made, whether or not the student is conscious of it. He will either begin to develop the necessary study habits, or he will begin to lose interest and simply come to school each day in order to fill a seat. Either way, this pattern is established, and once it becomes ingrained in the student's character it is extremely hard to break. From this point onward, everyone assumes that the student will continue on the path he has chosen. The pressure to maintain his particular level of achievement is eventually adjusted to and he becomes immune to any effort to sway him." — ERIC BJORKLUND



"While visiting my mother at her job at Youth Farm, I met Dr. Marc Schneiderman, a medically certified hypnotist and the family practice physician who serves the residents there. We got into a discussion about hypnotism during which I told him I wanted to be hypnotized and before you know it, I was under. I was very easily hypnotized — a level five, he said. When I told Mr. Marry about my experience, he was excited. Mr. Marry asked if I would be willing to be hypnotized in front of the psychology classes and I agreed. I was very nervous the day of my "performance." Dr. Schneiderman regressed me to the ages of five and ten. At age five I recalled a nursery rhyme that I used to know and I drew pictures of the doctor while I was at ages five and ten.

Dr. Schneiderman gave me post-hypnotic suggestions and worked with sensations in my arms. My classmates were intrigued and asked many, many questions. The feeling is hard to explain since I only know how I feel before and after being hypnotized. It was quite an experience. I look forward to learning self-hypnosis." — LORI BROWN

"On August 19, 1983, I learned that some members of Def Leppard were to be interviewed by radio station 106. So Kim took Darcy Demmin, Greta Medina, and me to the radio station. We followed Jeff Markwalder since he was the only one who knew exactly where the station was. When we got there, only about seven other people had arrived ahead of us, so we waited together. Suddenly one of the girls yelled 'Oh my gosh,' and pointed across the street. It was Phil Collen and Steve Clark, the two blond guitarists. Darcy gave Steve a teddy bear and I gave him a drum stick to give to Rick Allen, Def Leppard's drummer. They said that they would sign autographs after the interview on the radio, so we waited for another hour until they came out. We all got autographs while Steve listened to Kim and me tell him about our band, The Mid-Daze. He wished us luck. Kim, Darcy, and I got kisses from Steve and noticed Phil in the car. I crawled into the back seat and kissed him, too, and so did Kim. Darcy and Jeff shook his hand. They drive off and then we went down to the Civic Center and 'Rocked 'til We Dropped,' at the best concert of our lives." — DOTTY DEMAY & KIM MARICLE

"For three years I sat around listening to the kids talk about the madrigal and the festivities that went along with it, so this year I decided to get into the act and become a server for the celebration. It was a very good experience for me because I was able to meet people and make new friends. Besides, I would have missed the beauty of the occasion and the atmosphere of Christmas.

The cafeteria, which had been transformed into the grand hall, was perfect! The room was alive with a soft glow of candlelight and the air was filled with the smell of evergreen trees, cinnamon oil, and pungent foods. The Madrigal Singers were great, too. What a beautiful way to start the Christmas season! I'm glad I was able to be a part of this celebration; I wish I had signed up to be a server three years ago." — DAN DRISCOLL

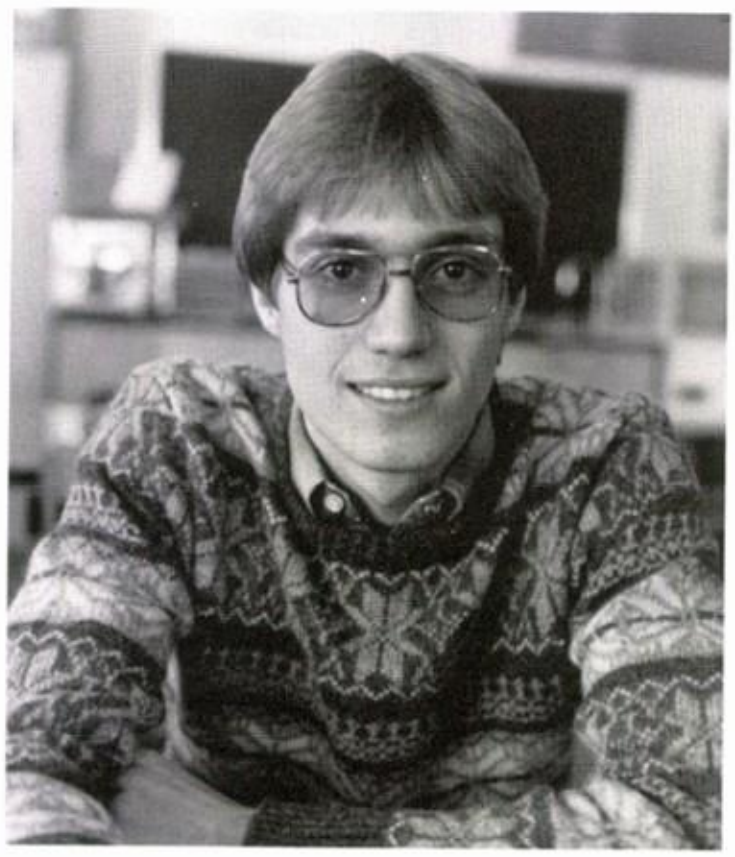
"Last October I decided to become involved in the homecoming variety show. I had been active in the past shows, but this year was the first time I played an important character. Although my part was not the leading role, playing the wicked witch in our senior skit was an interesting job. I had to disguise my voice and wear the right costume. Even my friends didn't recognize me at first.

The night of the variety show was one of tension. My head was filled with mixed-up lines and hope of remembering them on stage. When the actual moment came, all I could do was pray that I was ready. As the curtain opened, I looked out into the crowd. Suddenly my heart jumped and I was saying to myself, "Start now . . . start now!" The next thing I knew it was all over and I was getting ready to go home. I had done it!

The excitment of being on stage was not the only reason I enjoyed being in the variety show. I was especially pleased with working with other people and making new friends. Although the practices were sometimes frustrating, it was fun being able to work more closely with my classmates.

I think the homecoming variety show is an important high school activity. Fun is not the only reason to have the variety show; the different classes compete for first place and that takes teamwork. Teamwork is an important part of maturing." — LISA GARD



"Maintaining an 'A' average is hard to do, especially if you have a part-time job, but I am doing it. Working after school and in the evenings takes away study time and personal time, the time I used to use to pursue my hobbies such as stamp collecting, watching HBO, and researching my family tree. I still get a chance to work on those things once in a while, but not as much as I would like. There is one thing that I still try to do and that is to lift weights every other day. My schedule is very full so I need some outside activity that serves as an escape — lifting weights. I have a routine that I do that requires about an hour and a half to two hours every two days. It keeps me feeling well physically and mentally. While I am lifting I am not thinking about my grades in Anatomy/Physiology or APS. I listen to rock music (I like Michael Jackson) and that takes my mind off of the pressures of school and work. I want to be a doctor and I know to achieve my goal I will have to concentrate on my studies and so I have been disciplining myself to stick to a rather rigid schedule. It has been a slow adjustment, but it has brought me much satisfaction." — DAVID FRANK

"Being a high school senior who is trying to obtain a good background for the future, I truly believe that education is extremely important. We live in a country that offers boundless opportunities and I see no reason why we should not set high goals for ourselves. I plan to attend Millikin University in Decatur where I expect to major in accountig or business management. I have taken several business courses at Limestone. Also, my father is a home contractor who has given me a brief introduction about maintaining a business; so, I have enough basic knowledge to really enjoy the business field.

I am looking forward to attending college and leaving home for the first time. I look forward to making new friends and expanding my horizons.

Presently, much of my spare time is spent babysitting. My sister and brother both have two children whom I watch quite often. I also volunteer in the nursery at our church. The experience of dealing with the children and their parents is very satisfying, however, somedays it is a test of my patience. I hope to have children of my own and this gives me a little preparation for the future. The importance of education will always be stressed in my home." — LISA HOFFMAN

"In terms of music, I can listen to almost anything (except down-home country tear jerkers and WSWT) and enjoy it. I especially like modern improvisational jazz like Spyra Gyra and Keith Jarrett. My all-time favorite song is the Beatles' "Long and Winding Road", and I love the "Hey, Jude" album.

"Reds" was my favorite movie, and I'm an admitted M*A*S*H addict. Barbra Streisand is my favorite actress and like every other red-blooded American girl, I lust after Warren Beatty and Dustin Huffman. Of everyone in past and future, I most emulate Shirley Chisolm, the Black congresswoman; she isn't a sensationalist, and she overcame tremendous odds to accomplish a lot of important things.

I'm an avowed liberal, politically, and of course, I oppose marines in Beirut and nuclear proliferation. I believe that it is the responsibility of our government to prevent violence; no soothing presidential words will convince me that massive defense budgets work toward that goal, especially when hunger has become a real problem in our society. Likewise, I don't think intervening in civil wars is the prerogative of the U.S. Military organization. Drawing fire seems to be a generally unintelligent idea, and the families of the 250-plus marines who have been needlessly killed in Beirut are undoubtedly feeling a sorrow whose cause, in my opinion, is not justified." — AMY MYERS

"After high school, I plan to attend DeVry Technical Institute to become a computer technician — a trade dealing with the repair and maintainence of computers and peripheral equipment. I always liked working with electronics, and enjoyed building radio-controlled models, especially boats. My favorite classes have been computer science and electronics. I haven't worked on models very much lately, since I spend most of my time working on my white, 1974, Monte Carlo. During the summer, I make money detasseling corn and carrying sheet rock for a contractor. Lifting weights has become a serious hobby with me; I spend at least two hours every other day working out. "I got my first job at Hunt's Family Restaurant as a waitress a year and a half ago. At first I thought it might interfere with school, but actually, my grades have improved. That may sound strange but it's true. If I don't keep my grades up, I can't work. I didn't take a job because I wanted extra money to spend, I went to work because my dad was on strike and I felt that I should help out at home. I applied and six days later I was working.

Dad was on strike for seven long months, which was a real hardship for all of us. I helped out whenever I could. During this time we grew closer together as a family. We became a real family; a tight bond formed between us that is still there today. I feel proud and special just knowing that I could do my share. Transportation wasn't a real problem either; my dad let me take his car to work as long as I put gas in it and took care of it.

My life has really changed since I got my job. I practically provide for myself and working hasn't interferred with my social life. I still go out and have fun but not during the week! School comes first. I have met many new people including my co-workers, my customers, and my boss — one of the best friends a person could have. If I have a problem I just go to him and he takes care of it. As far as my goals are concerned, I plan on getting a day job to support myself through college. For the immediate future, I have two goals: one is to try to get a very special guy — he's a senior — to ask me out, and the other is to get my own car. The most important things in my life are school, my job, and a very special person." — LISA SHEPHERD

Fast!

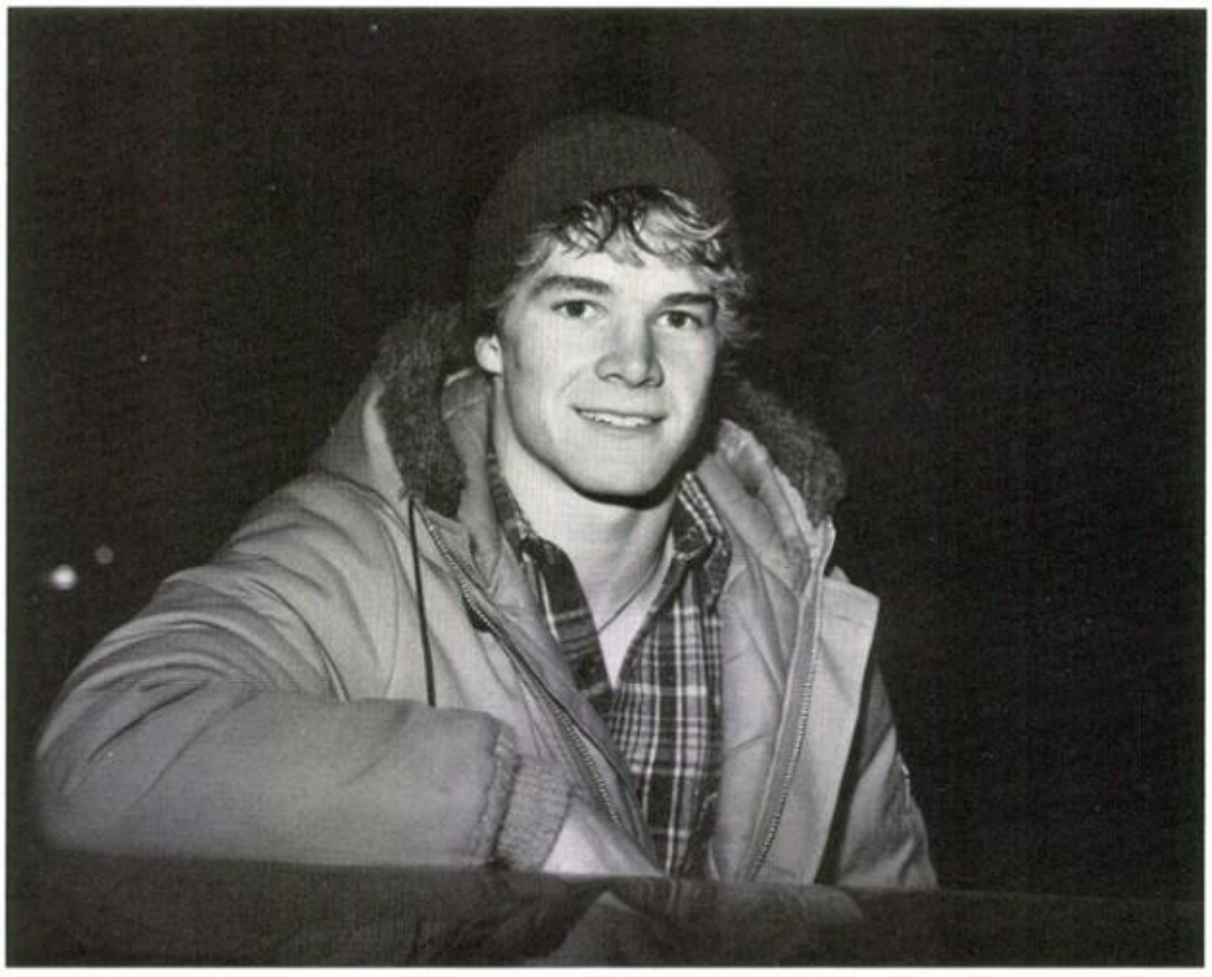
"My four years at Limestone have gone fast, but I'm glad I'm a senior. A few of my favorite classes were mythology, English, sociology, and band. Sociology really made me think about life's problems and issues. Mr. Wassell made sociology a really neat class. He has a certain way of getting your attention and getting you involved. Mr. C was my favorite teacher, though. Next to his corny, sometimes funny, jokes, he's a great friend and teacher. If you need someone to talk to, he's always there to listen and help out. I think I'll miss Mr. C., my friends, teachers, and everyone in band.

Currently, I've been working in the candy department at Szolds for $3.45 an hour. It's a great way to meet people. I plan to work there through the summer — it's a very friendly place — and then go to I.S.U. I'm not sure of what my major will be, but I'm very interested in the medical field. I'll never forget the many great things that happened in my life while at Limestone, but it's time to say good-bye to high school, and hello to the world. Good Luck, Class of '84!" — JOANN SNYDER



"What I want most out of life is to be a success. I want to have a good paying job and I want to be happy in what I do. Many people have influenced my life during my high school years and most of these people are people that I met in sports both at Limestone and other places where we have played. I am motivated by the accomplishments of others, and I look up to those who have achieved a great deal. I do not want to sound conceited, but I feel I have had some success already in some of my achievements during high school. I owe a great deal to some very special people who have kept me motivated; among these are my parents, my brother and my sisters, and many friends. For them and for all of those who have touched my life, I will always try to be an achiever. My pet peeve is to hear people say that they should have or that could have done something, and they did not do it. They are only fooling themselves. I want to be able to say I did it and be proud of my accomplishments." — CURTIS SKOTNICKI

Sean Woerner and Steve Hines carry in the Christmas trees that will be used to decorate the cafetorium for the Madrigal Dinner.

"Being in the Madrigal Dinner is an exciting experience. It requires a lot of hard work and dedication. I have been a singer in the dinner for the past three years.

Singing in the Madrigal Dinner was my favorite activity. To achieve the fine sound requires several months of hard work. We rehearse once a week in the summer and once every day during school. This allows us to get a head start on the music and dancing which we need since twenty songs and two dances are performed.

I received a great feeling from being a part of this group. I think a person must experience it to fully understand what I mean." — STEVE HINES

"These have been the best four years of my life. It is rewarding to know that I had a part in the 10th anniversary of the Madrigal Dinner Performance. Madrigals and Swing Choir have been a big part of my high school years. It was an honor to be in Madrigals my sophomore year, but I felt out of place. The older madrigal singers treated me very well and made me feel at ease and soon we were singing together like one big happy family. Whenever I had a problem, the other singers would help me to do my best and to be proud of what I had accomplished.

If I could give an incoming freshman some advice I would tell him to get involved and to do things to help the school, and to give the school a good name, and be proud to say 'I go to Limestone'." — SEAN WOERNER

"After I graduate from Limestone, I plan to attend a small, private college and major in either pre-med or biology. I plan to go on and become a doctor of pathology. My ambition is to work in a big city hospital down south where it's warm, and maybe someday be the coroner of a county. After I start my career, I want to get married and eventually have three or four children. I want a career and a family. I do think it is possible to succeed in this, but it will take lots of hard work." — LISA YERBY

Organist

Reverend Harold E. Heidegger

Beatitudes Made Relevant For Future

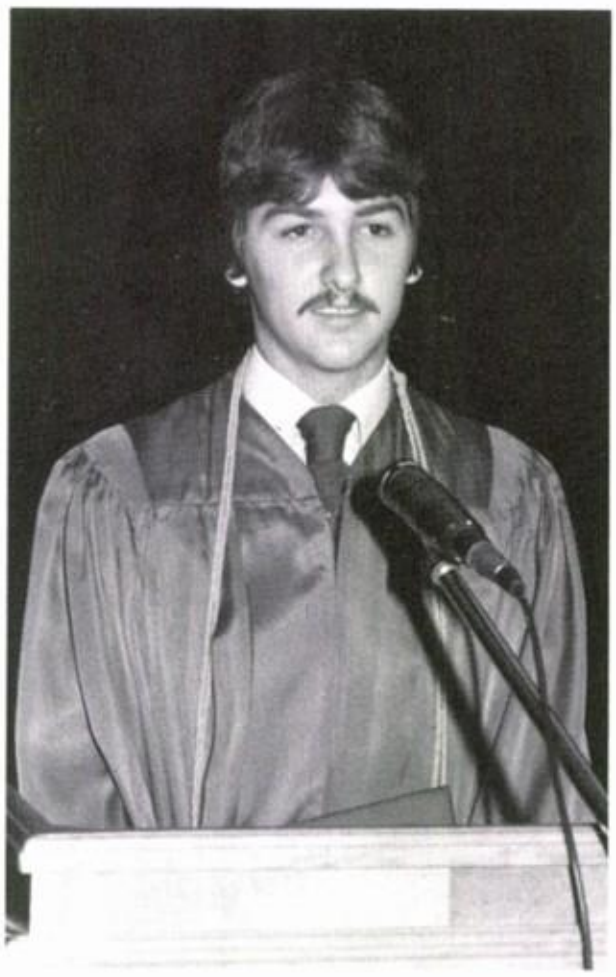
Michael Eugene Almasi gave the invocation.



Michael Lawrence Sullivan, a last minute substitute for Troy Roberson, delivered the benediction.

Members of the Class of 1984 listen attentively as Reverend Heidegger relates The Beatitudes to their lives and the meaning they have for the future as a pattern for living.

RECESSIONAL - "Grand March" ..... Verdi

Lisa Jones, Tammy Johnson, and Lori Scudder are very happy tonight; they are graduating! Here the girls are seen in preparation.

The Senior Tea is a great opportunity for the members of the class to be together socially. The Student Council hosted the Class of 1984.

Dr. Endsley and school board president, Mr. Lambie, addressed the members of the class and praised their accomplishments.

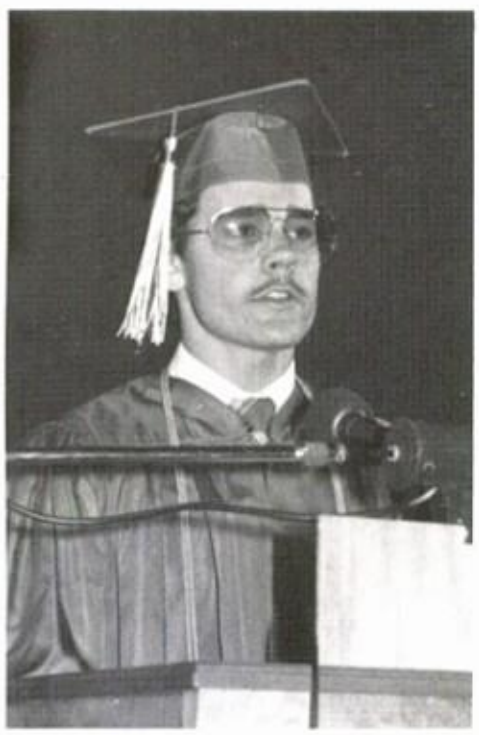
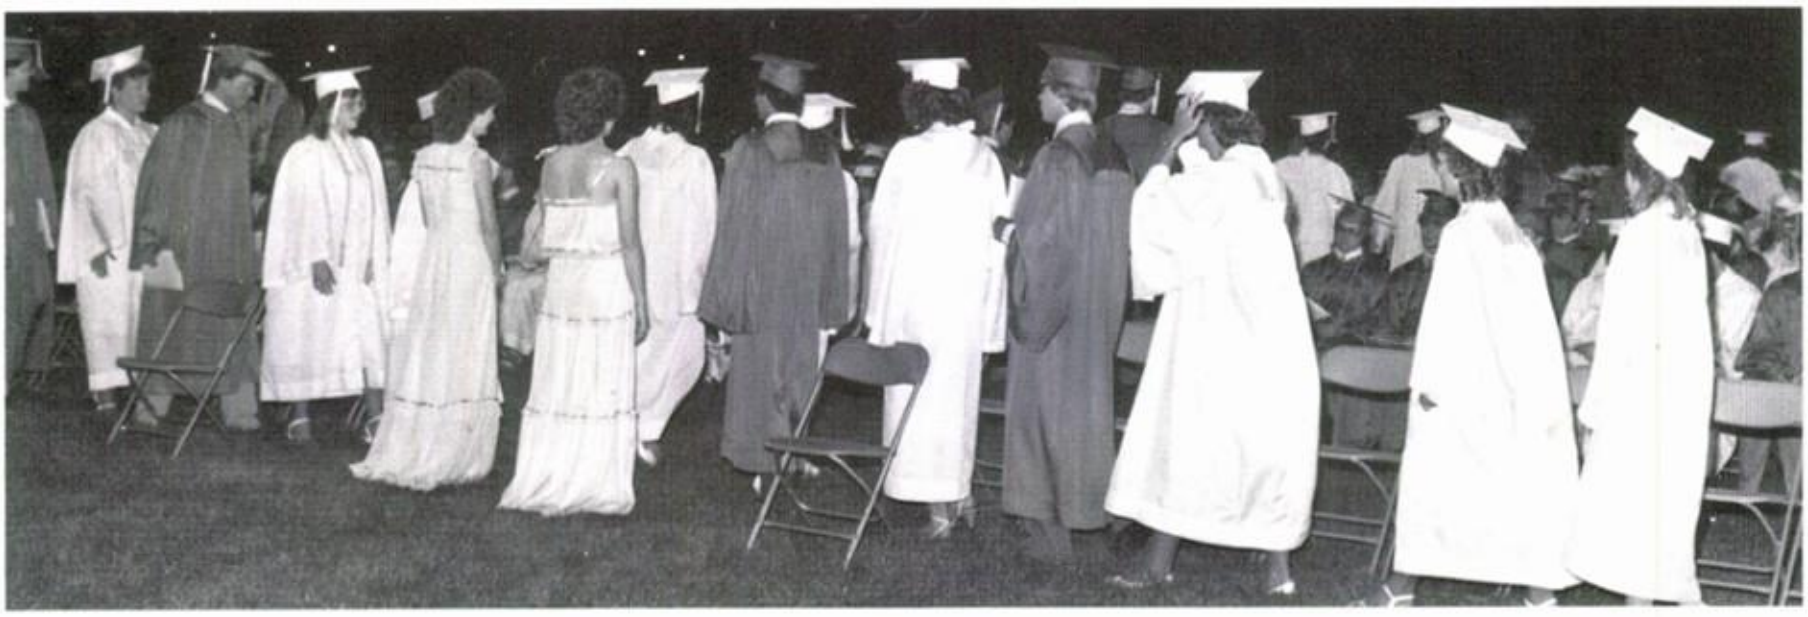
Class members file by to receive their diplomas as their names are called by the class president, Mike Sullivan.



Tim Lindner
Farewell

Kent Hamra, Trenton Carter, and Lisa Yerby receive their diplomas and a hearty congratulations from Dr. Endsley.

A barrage of blue and white helium filled balloons fills the night sky at just the moment when the members of the class are graduated.



The happy and successful class leaves the field to Verdi's "March Triumphal" from the opera "Aida."

Happiness, Best Wishes, and Good Luck!

A tearful Lisa Shepherd is congratulated by Debbie Aeschliman.

Above left in descending order: Kristi Ketcham, Kris Jordan, Joy Boerckel, and Rozanna Anderson elatedly look at report cards and diplomas. The boys get a big kick out of noticing that the diploma covers they received are empty. They are Chip Doran, Nick Applegrin, Mike Almasi, and Troy Roberson. Mr. Oswald, at his usual post, hands out diplomas as the boys return their caps and gowns. Taking a look at their last report card from high school are Kim Wuehle, Susan Melloy, Lisa Tapping, and Leah Smalley. Above, Eric Bjorklund, Scott Hooste, and David Edwards prepare to leave for celebrations at home.

Seniors Share in Many Activities

Barry Irwin, Dan Hickman, and Tim Lindner, cram for the JETS competition.

Randy Eichorn listens attentively in Mr. Nordvall's class.

Misha Sapp is caught in the act of raiding the snack bar.

What are Deanna Thompson and Pat Thornton doing? Could they be trying to pass the apple — they didn't have any oranges — during the spirit week assembly?

During Their Last Year at Limestone

Ben Bingamon, one of many studious seniors, browses through an automobile magazine during the book fair.

Mr. Johnson takes time out of his busy schedule to give advice to Kim Maule, while she works with the computer.

Lynn Brown and Jennifer Goodrich hold up the soon-to-be devoured homecoming cake.

Final Year Activities Benefit Many

Lisa Jones prepares a sign for the Jim Showalter Benefit.

Bill Bontz exchanges pleasant greetings with cashier Mrs. Dearing.

Judy Lyon, Co-op Student of the year, checks over the records of the stuffed animal sale with Mrs. Hott.

Business Student of the Year, Kim Meyers, achieved 120 words per minute in shorthand.

Seniors Take Pride in Participating

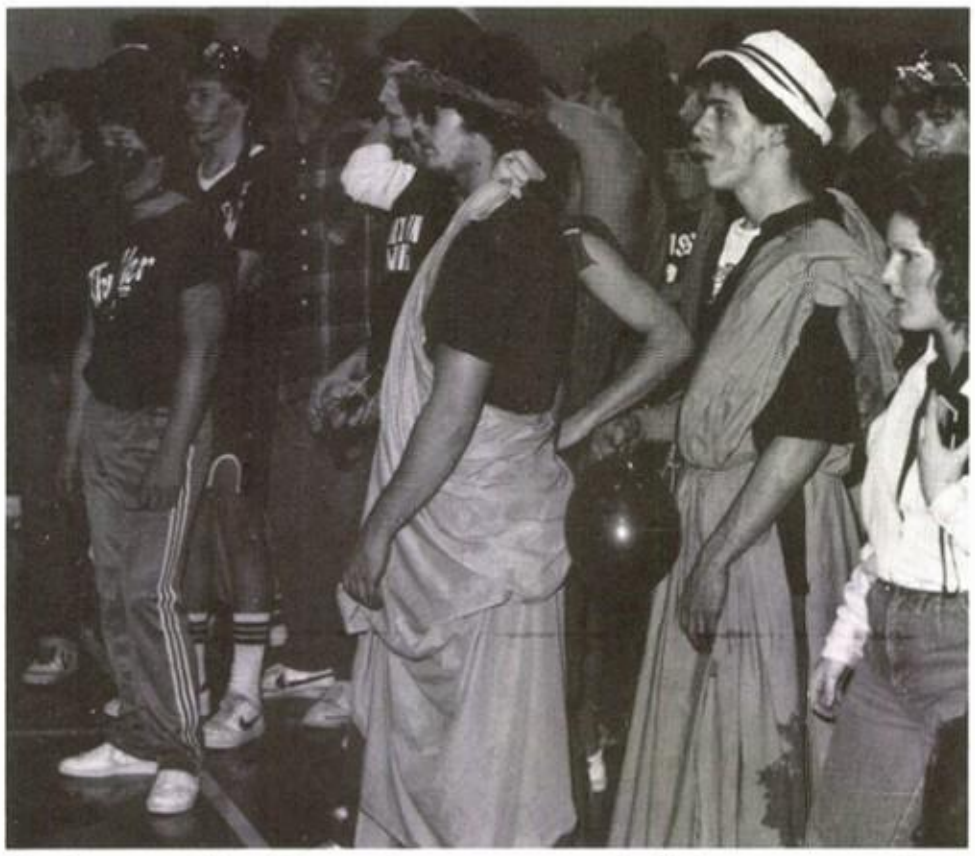
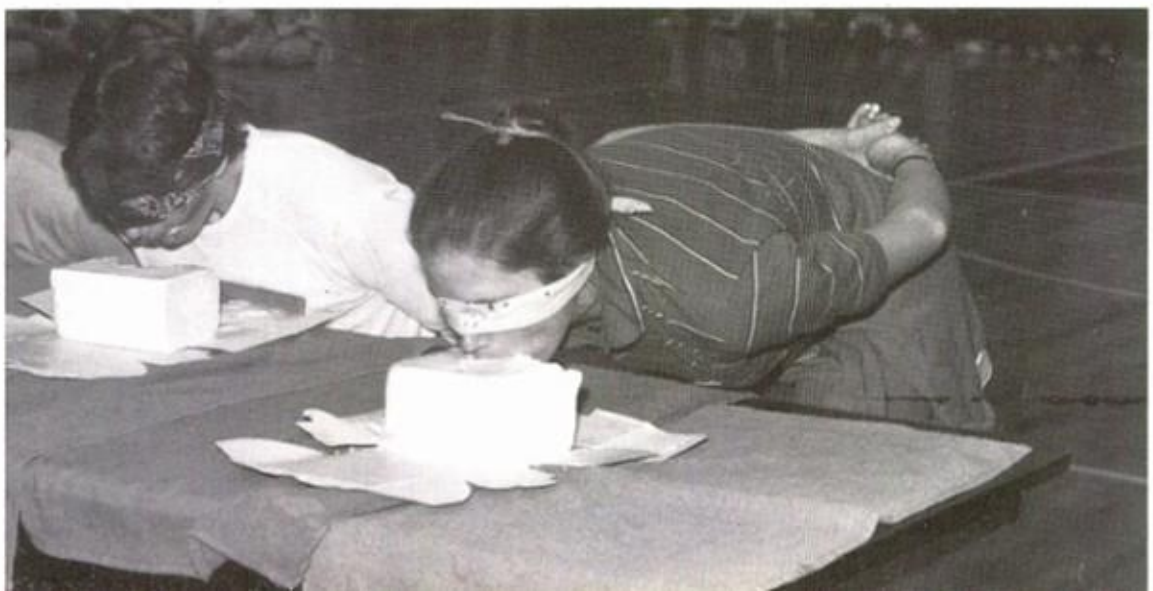
Tim Gentry and Dan Cramer are measured for caps and gowns.

Head Roman, Mike Sullivan in his red toga directed his class during Spirit Week. The red hall won first place to help drive the class to a spirit week victory.



Seniors watch with anxiety as one of their team members munches out on ice cream during the ice cream eating contest.

Jennifer Tjaden ponders the name of a particular muscle during a lab practical on the cat.



Joan Meister, the senior contender in the ice cream eating contest takes to the task.

Junior Class Officers

Kelly French Carol Hagel

Debbie Higgins Kristi Mabis

Junior Class adviser, Mrs. Morris, snarfs up a hot dog as the work of stuffing goes on at fever pitch.

After three years of experience and collected knowledge, the Juniors proved their superior abilities in Homecoming competition. The Junior Class received first place for their skit in the homecoming variety show. The successful theme for the Juniors was "The Wizard of Ahhhs." Performances from Greg Borum, Brad Foiles, and Dave Johnson clinched an easy win. In the same evening, Kristi Mabis was named Junior Attendant. In addition, after many long, exhaustive hours of pasting and pomping, the Juniors took first place honors in the float competition. The Juniors, along with the help of their advisors, Mrs. Morris, Mr. Camp, and Mr. Messersmith, proved the point that hard work and persistence truly does pay off.

The 1983 football team proved to everyone that with enough courage and talent anyone can take his dreams all the way. There were several juniors who contributed to the team's winning season. Among them were Greg Borum, Brad Foiles, Larry Brown, Mike Euteneuer, and Larry Smith; all had starting positions.

The Junior Class officers excelled in organizing the Junior Class funds with projects and events such as the Prom. The class officers were Debbie Higgins, president; Kelly French, vice-president; Carol Hagel, secretary; and Kristi Mabis, treasurer.

Sophomore Class Officers

Angie Trotter  Michelle Vandergriff

Christy Stranz  Charmin Partlow

The sophomores are that group of rather uncertain people who don't know whether to jump right in or sit back and watch. Having experienced one year of high school and one homecoming they are sure they know what it's all about. A considerable amount of work was done on the skit, but its entertainment value only brought a third place. It was a great show. Float competition was very stiff and proved unsuccessful for the tenth graders. A great new goal did loom on the horizon for most sophomores, though; it was driver training. They received behind the wheel experience and got that all important blue card and finally their driver's license.

Leading the Sophomore Class this year were Christy Stranz, president; Angie Trotter, vice-president; Michelle Vandergriff, secretary; and Charmin Partlow, treausrer. The class advisers were Miss Gago, Miss Reuter, Mr. Viers, and Mr. Johnson from the Guidance Office.

Hopefully the sophomores will take advantage of their skills and opportunities in developing a rewarding education that can bring happiness and success in the future.

Freshman Class Advisers - Mr. Johnson, Mrs. Schneider, Mrs. Allsop

"Where's the elevator? "I can't find the gym!" "How do I get to the foreign language hall?" "Can you help me find locker 1264?" "I forgot my combination," "Who's Mr. Wittmer?" "Where's the cafetorium?" "Where's the beef?" These were just a few of the intellectual questions posed by the members of the freshman class. Everywhere you look there are freshmen doing something. These wonderous underclassmen can be seen wearing their lockers to every class.

Many contributions were made by the freshmen throughout the course of this year. The biggest contribution was made by Amy Hurst who held "The End" sign in the freshman skit. The skit theme for the freshmen was "Gone With the Wind." Enthusiasm was no stranger to the class of '87.

The freshman class officers were: President, Angie Perrilles; Vice President, Jill Williamson; Secretary, Jeanne Park; and Treasurer, Michelle Borneman. Freshman advisors were: Mr. Johnson, Mrs. Schneider, Mrs. Allsop, and Mrs. Johnson. The class color for Spirit Week was blue; the theme was Limestone Rockets.

Limestone should feel proud of this youngest class of students. Tradition holds that freshmen have always made a large contribution to Limestone, and this year was no exception. Thanks freshmen!

Limestone Administrative Staff

Dr. Norman T. Endsley
Superintendent

Dr. Frank Bailey
Assistant Superintendent

The Administrative Staff is very important to the normal functioning of our school. Under their capable direction the educational programs are carried out by a staff of professional educators who have dedicated themselves to the betterment of society. The administrators oversee the activities of the school day as well as the extra-curricular activities that take place after school, in the evenings, and on weekends. In addition, they plan budgets, deal with discipline problems, and work with the school board and community. We are grateful for and appreciative of their efforts to make Limestone an outstanding high school.

Limestone Board of Education

Merlin R. Lambie
President

The Limestone Board of Education consists of seven members who are elected by residents of the district. The members meet twice a month and receive no monetary compensation for doing so. These members set school policies, approve the budget, and hire staff. In addition to their formal activities as board members, they show their interest in the high school by attending plays, athletic events, and other school functions. The president of the school board traditionally hands out diplomas to the graduating seniors at commencement. We appreciate the fine job that these people do for our school and community.

"I love my job!" stated Mrs. Boatright when asked what motivated her to continue teaching for fourteen years. Mrs. Boatright graduated from I.S.U. and has a major in Latin and minors in psychology and English. She taught in District 150 for four years and has taught at Limestone for fourteen years. In her spare time, Mrs. Boatright enjoys fishing, reading and needlepoint. At Limestone Mrs. Boatright teaches sophomore English, mythology, expository writing, and sometimes freshman English. As for her favorite class, she replied, "If the students are enthusiastic and receptive, I enjoy each class I teach." Mrs. Boatright commented that there have been a few humorous experiences in her years at Limestone. One of those involved a student who wired her windows open. She couldn't leave school until they were shut. Also another student, who will long live in her memory, teasingly pretended to pull her chair from under her in a studyhall in the snackbar. Unfortunately for her, he actually did, and she landed on the floor! Her word of advice for students is to study the employment picture carefully and to prepare themselves for careers in areas where opportunities are expanding, such as computer technology. Competition for jobs is fierce; the better grades a student earns, the better off he will be.

"Mrs. Kokos has been teaching at Limestone for seventeen years. She attended Southern Illinois University and majored in history. She had wanted to be a teacher since the third grade. When asked what motivated her to continue teaching, she replied, "Something new happens every day; I enjoy that. I also like the summer vacations and being around young people."

In her spare time, she enjoys singing with the Sweet Adelines Chorus, a women's barbershop musical organization. Her favorite movie is Chesapeake. Although teaching takes up much of her time, Mrs. Kokos still has time for her family. She believes that people will use their time for those things that they really find important.

When asked what advice she had for high school students preparing for their futures, she said, "Don't take the easy way; learning to face hard work and difficult challenges is a path to future successes." When talking about the future outlook for employment for seniors, she said, "Many seniors will be faced with unemployment or difficult course work at college; those who are determined and prepared will find life much more pleasant."

Mr. C. Richard Barnett graduated summa cum laude with a Bachelor of Arts Degree from Wayne State College in Wayne, Nebraska, and earned a Master of Science Degree from the University of Oregon. He became a member of Kappa Mu Epsilon, math honorary, Lambda Delta Lambda, science honorary, and Pi Gamma Mu, social science honorary. He belongs to the Masons and the Shrine and is a deacon at the First Christian Church.

Mr. Barnett says he has enjoyed his twenty-five years at Limestone where he has taught such mathematics subjects as algebra, geometry, advanced algebra, trigonometry, analytical geometry, calculus, and probability. In addition, he has been a class sponsor for four years and has sponsored chess club and photography club.

In his spare time Mr. Barnett enjoys reading, gardening and watching sporting events. Also, he is a computer buff.

Mr. Larry Stalter, a graduate of Eureka High School and Illinois State University, came to Limestone Community High School in the fall of 1959 as a teacher of business education. At that time, the business department occupied rooms 232 - 235 on the second floor of the original building in what is now the science department. Over the past twenty-five years, he has taught Typing I & II, Office Production Skills I & II, Business and Its Environment, and Business Law.

Mr. Stalter lives in Eureka and estimates that he has commuted over 270,000 miles to and from Limestone High School.

Mr. Larry Stalter

During her twenty-five year tenure at Limestone High School, Mrs. Patricia Wagner has taught oral communications and English classes. She has directed plays and group interpretation and coached speech events. She also sponsored Junior Red Cross Club, drama club, and Thespians, and she coordinated speech contests.

Mrs. Wagner received her Bachelor of Science degree from Northern Illinois University with a major in speech and minors in English and education. She earned her Master of Arts degree from Bradley University in Peoria. In addition, Mrs. Wagner has earned graduate hours at Northern Illinois University, and she has earned graduate hours in gifted education from the University of San Diego. During her college career Mrs. Wagner competed as a debater and in individual events, extemporaneous, oratory, and discussion. She also acted in plays on campus.

Mrs. Patricia Wagner

Mrs. Bonnie Watson graduated from Bradley University with a Bachelor of Science degree in physical education and minors in health education and home economics. She did her student teaching at Peoria High School and taught there for two years when her career was interrupted to start a family. She began at Limestone in the fall of 1958 and remained here for one year when her teaching career was again interrupted. Mrs. Watson has three sons, Michael, Kevin, and Danny. She returned to teaching in the fall of 1960. Her graduate work was completed at Illinois State University.

At Limestone, Mrs. Watson has taught physical education, health, and first aid. She has been involved in sponsoring the madrigal tumblers, cheerleaders and Girls' Athletic Association, and she has been a class sponsor.

Homecoming Theme "Standing Room Only" Reminiscent Of Hollywood Classics

Members of the junior cast: G. Borum, B. Foiles, K. Mullineaux, Mrs. Morris, M. Swank, D. Thompson, B. Welch, S. Reedy, B. Gaffney, K. French, T. Modglin, C. Davis, S. Nelson, M. Guthrie, L. Cagle, J. Schaefer, D. McDowell, K. Hageman, J. Riggenbach, S. Campen, H. Sullivan, V. Hetzel, K. Swearingian, A. Doubet, J. Wetterauer, J. Markwalder, D. Trapp, S. Burlison, D. Hoyle, D. Lance, S. McCormick, K. Hidden, D. Johnson, D. O'Neill, L. Behrends.

The 1983 Homecoming was crammed full of activity. The theme, "A Night In Hollywood," was seen throughout the week. On the first night of the variety show Queen Vonda Demmin was crowned and her court of attendants was named. They were: Senior - ReNae Nash, Junior - Kristi Mabis, Sophomore - Christie Stranz, and Freshman - Lynette Edwards.

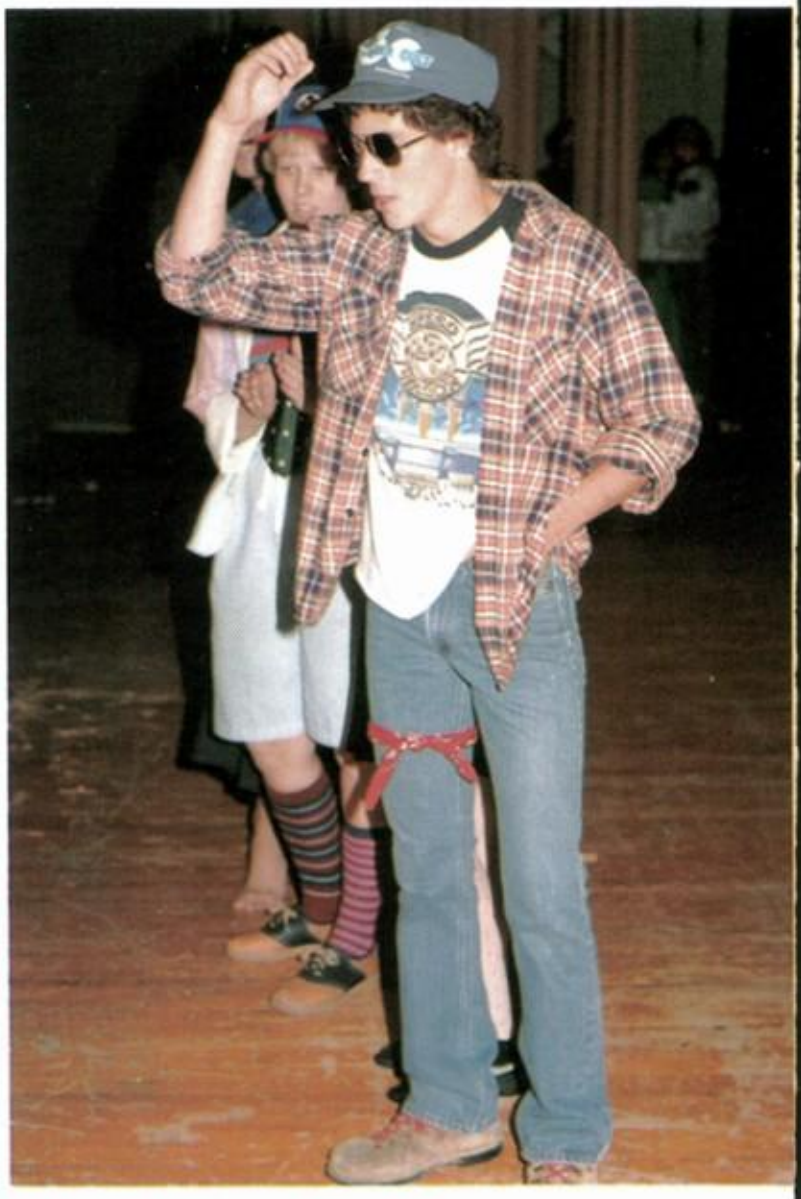
Hard work was seen throughout the evening with fantastic skits and filler acts. The Junior skit took first place with their rendition of "The Wizard of Ahhhs!" whose cast included the good witch, Greg Borum, who stumbled around on stage to save the game; the cowardly lion, Dave Johnson, became Mr. "T" when Dorothy was in trouble. Sweet and directive Dorothy, Missy Guthrie, did everything she could to win the game. It was one skit the cast will never forget.

The Seniors won second place for their skit "Snow Blue and the Seven Dorks." Some of the seniors showing their talent were Terry Wittmer, Vonda Demmin, Mike Sullivan, ReNae Nash, Lisa Gard, and Kent Hamra.

The Sophomores proudly took third place with their version of "Casablanca," but felt their skit was too sophisticated for the audience and judges whose maturity was so recent. Among cast members were Lori Weisser, Tracy Tjarks, Greg Brown, Robin Grace, Scott Herman, and Mike Irwin. Hollywood move over!

The Freshman skit, "Gone With the Wind," was hit by a hurricane and swept into fourth place which they accepted graciously. Amy Hurst, one of the cast, held a sign proclaiming "The End." Indeed her role was a small one, but someone had to tell the audience that the skit was over. Other freshmen troupers, in a world of their own, were Angie Perrilles, Suzy Lauterbach, Jeff Graber, Joel Shudde, and Rhonda McGath.

Dallas Saupe and Jay Wolfe won first place in the filler-act competition with a display of their juggling talents, and Vonda Demmin, received second place with her vocal rendition of "What I Did for Love." Others participating in the filler acts were Angie Cramer, who sang "Breaking Up is Hard to Do"; Mark Toland played an exciting drum solo; Michelle Grubb, sang the theme from "Flashdance"; and Kristi Bruett and Bonnie Watson, danced to "Pac-Man Fever."



"Hey Dude," says Kent Hamra

1. Michelle Grubb sings the theme from "Flashdance". 2. Jay Wolfe and Dallas Saupe dazzled the audience with their act. 3. Todd Lannert (Sam) plays it again. 4. "We are stuck on band aids" sing Gina Williams and Gill McFarlane. 5. Kristy Bruett and Bonnie Watson dance to "Pac Man Fever".

Christmas! . . .

The urchins crouch close together to keep warm on this wintry night as they wait for the eager guests to arrive. Right: Dallas Saupe and Jay Wolfe amazed the throng with their juggling ability. Right below: Mr. Morris closes the doors to the grand hall in preparation for the guests to arrive.

The 1983 Madrigal Dinner was, as usual, a successful event that gave Christmas a new meaning to many people. For ten strong years this event has captivated its guests.

Mr. Michael Morris, Limestone's Choral Director, has made the Madrigal Dinner Performance what it is today. From the very beginning he believed that his idea, a Madrigal Dinner, would be an instant success, even though the School Board and Administrators felt that such an extravagant event would be too costly and possibly unsuccessful. Nevertheless, Mr. Morris convinced them that he could do it. With the costumes, set construction, scripts, decorations, art, cooks, and musicians ready, Mr. Morris, with the help of fellow faculty members put the finishing touches on the preparations.

As expected, the first Madrigal Dinner was a big success. The parents were enthralled to have their children serve the dinner. Likewise, they were very pleased with the professionalism of the madrigal singers and dancers. That night, they left with a feeling of happiness and fulfillment. Throughout the years, the Madrigal Dinner has held a special charm for the community. New people and new faces continue to carry out this yearly tradition and people from far and wide continue to fill the grand hall.

The 1983 Madrigal Dinner provided that same magic again this year. The guests were greeted by the urchins, led into the castle, and exposed to an atmosphere that existed only in England during the fifteenth century. One of the many attractions on the way through the castle was the apothecary shoppe where the king's people purchased herbs and medicines. Another attraction was a seamstress tending to her mending and listening to the beautiful songs sung by a folksinger. Other attractions included: knights jousting, a dungeon scene, jugglers, potters, storytellers, jesters, and musicians.

At a precise moment, the guests were invited into the Grand Hall by the Master of Revelry. The pungent aromas of rare meats and pastries, the soft glow of the candles, and the medieval decorations enchanted the invited gentry with a festive atmosphere of a period of long ago.

The guests were seated and led in a blessing for the season and toasted with hearty wassail. The pages and wenches served each table with grace and manner. The madrigal singers made their entrance with "A Great and Mighty Wonder" passing among the guests until they reached the dais which had been prepared for them. After numerous courses of fine cuisine the dinner concluded with a traditional flaming plum pudding.

As the evening drew to a close, it came time for the Master of Revelry to lead everyone in a chorus of "Silent Night" after which he extended a final prayer wishing everyone a Merry Christmas and peace for the world.

The guests thanked the pages, wenches, musicians, and singers and departed from their medieval fantasy into the cold and real world outside.

Each year, in the month of March, the students of Limestone High School pool their resources and give straight from the heart. Fund raising projects are set up by the Student Council. Such projects include selling vice versa dance tickets, candy, steak dinners, and yes, there were even wedding bells ringing throughout the halls. You could get married for one dollar! This year $2000 was raised. The money will go toward the research dedicated to the special children who are born with handicaps and birth defects and come under the sponsorship of the Easter Seals programs.

As you sit thumbing through your AMULET, take a minute or two and think of all the children who are handicapped for all their lives, and count your blessings.

1. Logan Kimmel and others like him are the real reason behind the fundraising for Easter Seals. 2. A group of people take a break from the formality of the dance and enjoy every minute of it! 3. The Vice Versa Dance proves to be another success. 4. Mr. Wassell assures Logan that with enough support dreams can really come true.

Best Wishes for A Happy Retirement

Mr. Donald Bangert

Mr. Donald Bangert, a 33 year veteran of the classroom, retired May 23, 1984, after serving Limestone High School for 28 years. During his tenure here, he taught all areas of mathematics and served as audio-visual director. In addition, Mr. Bangert served as game photographer for the football games, operating the movie camera in extremes of sweltering heat and blowing cold. He also video-taped basketball games, took care of the P.A. systems in the gym and auditorium, and attended to little emergencies in various classrooms when something went wrong with projectors or other A-V equipment. We will miss him.

Only two days short of 29 years, Mrs. Virginia Blanquart retired at the beginning of the 1983-84 school year. She worked in the custodial department the entire time. She was very well liked by the students and frequently served as a sounding board for their problems. She says that Limestone is like a big family to her, being only a phone call away. She spends some of her time backpacking in the wilderness of Montana, with young friends and relatives; she enjoys her life very much. She welcomes anyone who wants to stop by and visit and is eager to share her adventures with anyone who will listen. Good luck, Ginny.

The 1984 Prom was not just a memorable evening for the members of the Junior and Senior Classes; it also consisted of long hours of planning and work during the past three years. This romantic event took place on May 12th in the Limestone High School gymnasium from 8:00 to 11:00 PM. The theme was "Tonight, I Celebrate My Love."

Over three-thousand dollars, earned from selling projects, was spent on decorations which included streamers, table placements, lights, fountains, and wall decorations covered with stars. Refreshments included beautifully decorated cakes, mixed nuts, mints, and fruit punch. Many couples ate at Jumer's, The River Station, Vonachens, and the Chateau restaurants before coming to the prom to enjoy the music of Exit.

Prom royalty were Darin Seibel and Kim Schepke, elected king and queen by secret ballot cast by couples in attendance at the dance.

Many thanks go to the hardworking and dedicated Junior Class advisors who helped make the evening a success.

"This year's AMULET staff was composed of Dave ('that's me') Tomlianovich, Jackie ('leave me alone') Chioni, Joi ('howdy') Hagel, Wendy ('I just type') Parlier, Joe ('cheerleader alert') Boyce, and Kim ('prepie') Dolan. The staff had many special moments, most of which centered around photographer and newcomer, Joe Boyce. Experience is something that takes time, but in Joe' case it took longer than we anticipated.

When it came to seriousness and getting the job done, a cloud of smoke could be seen around Dave Tomlianovich as he tackled the job. Dave has his sense of humor, too, with his Kermit-the-Frog impersonations.

Jackie Chioni was not only new to the staff, but she was new to Limestone, too. Her maturity, sense of humor, charm, and class, dazzled the staff and most of the male population at LCHS. Jackie was a real asset because of her dedication and determination. She was able to catch on quickly to the basics of yearbook production.

Joi Hagel was the only veteran on the staff. Joi had the job of working on the mug sections — when she wasn't bragging about her boyfriend. She gave Mr. Rule a lot of static, but finally settled down to do a pretty good job.

Kim Dolan worked with Joi on the faculty section and some activities and had to listen to Joi talk about her boyfriend. Kim kept the staff updated on where the life of the town was and where Def Leppard was playing. Kim's yearbook experience make her a natural for the staff of Rolling Stones Magazine.

Wendy Parlier, the AMULET secretary, worked on the advertising section and kept the books. She recorded receipts and attempted to operate the computer. She never really did get the hang of it, but everything turned out alright, although she did have a tendency to talk too much.

Mr. Rule, the adviser, deserves a pat on the back and a trip to Tahiti — one way. Many times he went above and beyond the call of duty by working late after school and on evenings and Saturdays to complete deadlines. We owe him our thanks for his dedicated efforts." — STEVE BURLISON, Editor-in-Chief

Included among these activities are the homecoming variety show, the bonfire, the homecoming parade, numerous dances, spirit week, and pride week. In addition, the council members generate donations of canned goods for the Thanksgiving food drive and Christmas baskets for the needy. One activity that never fails to open the hearts and pockets of the students is the Easter Seals drive for the crippled children. This annual drive and full week of activities generates over one thousand dollars each year. Thanks, Student Council, for a job well done. Keep up the good work!

"Being drum majors was a very new and different experience for us. It was a little rough in the beginning getting everything started because we didn't know too many faces, the commands, or even the routines. It wasn't too long before all this changed because we started to meet more people and make new friends. Gradually, we gained confidence and started to get the feel for band life; everything started to fall into place. The parades, games, and competitions were somewhat hectic, but we all managed to get through them. Being drum majors in the band is really a rewarding experience." - Jeff Markwalder and Val Reyling

The Marching Rockets Start Tradition

This year there were many traditions started at Limestone. One of these traditions involved the marching band. After having selling projects last year, the band was able to purchase new uniforms and go to band camp.

On July 31, 1983, at 12:00 P.M., the tradition started as two chartered buses departed Limestone's parking lot. Its occupants were unaware of what loomed ahead as the buses threaded the highway toward Eastern Illinois University and Andrews Hall.

The week was beyond what anyone had imagined. No one will forget "Swirly's" solo swim or the times when some people ran off for dinner to get away from the college food. The food was all right, but there were times when some considered Tim's advise of eating nails for dinner a good idea. Swimming was a good way to have fun and to cool off from marching in the torrid heat. The problem was getting to the pool in one piece. The locker room was also being used by the St. Louis Cardinal Football Team whose gorilla-sized players disliked the idea of having a bunch of kids track water through the room.

Although there were fun times, the most important times were spent in 90 degree heat on an open field marching and improving our marching, not until it was just good, but great! At camp we learned a system that is used by many great college bands, like the University of Illinois. The system involved the use of zero points or small blocks used for reference points for each part of the half-time show. The system was introduced by our half-time show designer, Tim Montgomery. He spent many hours making sure everything was going smoothly and making necessary changes. Also working with Tim was one of the top flag instructors in the country, Trisha Lenarz. She made incredible advancements with the flags. One of these was the beach party in the "Beach Boys" medley which consisted of flag girls in bathing suits throwing frisbees into the stands. Tim also taught us the importance of tone and posture. We also learned some of his band terms like "ungawa" and "siam." He taught us to be a class organization which was evident when we cheered a band as they marched by our practice field.

Our final day at camp, August 5, was by far the greatest. Throughout the week basketball players attending the camp felt it was necessary to humiliate us — going as far as mooning us. Now, we felt obligated to march in front of their dorms at 4 in the morning to return the compliment along with a few sour notes and a rousing drum cadence.

Memories of our first year at camp will never fade away. Our thanks and admiration to Mr. C., Tim, and Trish can never be fully expressed. Tim's famous sayings will long be remembered by fellow band members. "Good, better, best, never let it rest, until your good is better and your better best."

Boredom. The number one epidemic disease in America is also the number one ailment affecting teenagers today. How do the students of Limestone combat boredom? Well, some bury themselves in academic pursuits while others strain to the limits of their endurance in athletic endeavors; others search out hobbies or allow themselves to be mesmerized by rock music. However, on the weekend, Limestone students go to the Northwoods Mall.

Northwoods is a fun place for shopping and dining, and it's a great place to meet people — especially members of the opposite sex — from many different schools. The key hot spots are J. R.'s Music Shop, Musicland, and Alladin's Castle. For the serious shopper, places such as Brook's, Coach House Gift Shop, and Paul Harris are all favorites. After all that walking from one end of the mall to the other and up and down the stairs, Hardees and the Orange Bowl, with their cool drinks to quench a parching thirst, are welcome sites to the weary. Some shoppers sit down on the benches and read rock magazines or simply watch the people going by with their bundles and packages under their arms.

The next time you are bored, cruise on over to the Mall. You are guaranteed to see someone from Limestone. Have a great time, but keep it legal. Stay out of trouble!

Vonda Demmin flashes a look of shock and surprise.

The 1984 "Camelot" cast party was held at Vonda Demmin's house following the final performance of a successful show. It was not a party of wild activities, but a sentimental gathering of exhausted people who had performed admirably. The signs of endless play practices were reflected on tired yet happy faces. Food was the first thing on everyone's mind. Vonda's parents provided all kinds of goodies to munch on. Sloppy joes were wolfed down along with chips and peanuts and lots of soda.

When the munching dwindled, surplus programs from the musical were passed around. Everyone autographed programs. Flowers and hugs were also exchanged. Tim Churchill and Chris Woermer played soft ballads on the guitar to the delight of those who huddled around them. It was like sitting around a camp fire on a warm summer night.

The party lasted until 1 o'clock the next day. Some people went to Denny's to have lunch; others went home and slept through the entire day.

"I have really enjoyed my four years in high school. Limestone has a good faculty from whom I have learned a great deal. The athletic programs are very good, too. My favorite sport has been golf. As a freshman, I played No. 1 man on the JV team. My sophomore, junior, and senior seasons I played either first or second man on the varsity squad. I treasure the time I spent on the golf course; if you want to be good, you have to work for it. I spent most of my summers on the shag field practicing the shots I needed to improve my game. It was rewarding because I could see the positive results of my efforts during tournament play. If I played poorly it made me want to go out and practice all the more. I felt I had to give 100 percent because if I didn't, someone would be right there to take my spot.

The thing I enjoy most about golf is that it is an individual sport. You have nobody to blame but yourself for a poor showing. Likewise, when you shoot a great game, you know you did it yourself! The highlights of my golf experience at Limestone include winning the conference in my junior year, and being named the Peoria Area Junior Golfer of the Year. The most disappointing thing was not making it to state my senior year.

As far as the golf team is concerned, I enjoyed golfing and being with my teammates during my four years at Limestone. To Mr. Trotter, I wish him lots of luck with the team next year. To Alex Reid, Brad Platt, Jeff Zircher, and the rest of the golf team, I say, keep an eye out for the golf clubs that all of a sudden become helicopters. — SCOTT HOOSTE

"I got into cross country running when a friend of mine was going out for the sport, so I decided to try it. I love it! A cross country race is three miles long and requires a lot of conditioning such as running seven to twelve miles a day without taking time off during the season or the off-season. I like cross country and would encourage anyone who likes running or jogging to try it. It is hard work, but if you're good and your team is good, it's worth it! Cross country is becoming a very competitive sport. The race itself isn't so bad, but the practice sessions can be grueling. I plan to continue running in college. I particularly like the 1500 and 5000 meter events. The most important fact that I have learned about cross country, that would help me as I go along in life and track, is that the harder you push yourself the better you get. If you don't push yourself you start loafing and find yourself being blown away by competitors you know you can beat." — BARRY IRWIN

"Football is a very important part of my life," says Curt Skotnicki. "This season, our best contender was Canton. For that game I feel we didn't play up to our potential. The most exciting game was with Morton, a game we needed to win in order to clinch the conference title and head for the state play-offs. Limestone has the best of both worlds which are academics and football. I think that my teammates and I all play as a team, and we all have fun together with whatever we do, especially football. This season overall was excellent; we all pull together and put out a championship effort. This is Limestone's first conference championship and state play-off birth in the history of the school. It's something I have dreamed of but thought would never come true. To see it happen my senior year of high school — well, it's a great feeling!" — Curt Skotnicki

State Play-off Is Dream Come True

First of all, on this good Thanksgiving weekend, we like to think about the less fortunate, like Peoria Central, Normal Community High School, Joliet Catholic, and Glenbard West," said coach Drach in front of the mob of high-spirited Rocket fans. The playoff series began with a rally at Normal Community High. Normal dominated early in the first half with a couple of option plays by the quarterback that netted touchdowns. The second half was a different story as the Rockets dominated the field with some good running by senior back Curt Skotnicki and a good defensive line. Brian Baylor, kicker, helped the Rockets clinch a victory on a field goal and extra point kick after Skotnicki's 91 yard run for a big T.D. The Rockets won the game 23-14.

Joliet Catholic was next on the Rocket's list, but with an 11-0 record, and ranking first in the state and ninth in the nation, no one expected Limestone to come up with a victory. The game started with the Rockets on defense, but Joliet fumbled the ball which was recovered by the Rockets who converted the mistake into a touchdown within the first 80 seconds of the game. The crowd went wild! However, Joliet drove hard, fighting the full length of the field to lead at the end of the first half by a score of 28-18.

With the aid of our dominating defense, the Rocket offense was able to score early in the second half. The crowd roared as the Rockets narrowed Joliet Catholic's lead to 4 points. The score now stood at 28-24. With 1:53 left on the clock, Limestone took the lead with Skotnicki's 74 yard touchdown run. With 22 seconds left to play, Mike Euteneuer intercepted a pass that put Limestone in the driver's seat running out the clock for a victory score of 31-28 and a trip to the championship game.

2nd In State And 1st In Our Hearts

It was cold at 5:00 A.M. when students began arriving in the Limestone High School parking lot, but the school spirit and the anticipation of the big game to be played that November 25th at Dyche Stadium in Evanston warmed the hearts of the fans as they clammered to get on the frosty buses for the long, tiresome ride to Northwestern University. Ten buses transported players, fans, and the band for the 11:00 A.M. kickoff. This was to be no ordinary game; it was the game for the state title. Never before had the Limestone Rockets, nor any other Peoria area school, gone to the state finals.

Limestone won the toss and chose to receive. The Hilltoppers' defensive line held the Rockets and prevented us from scoring. We couldn't get it all together, but Glenbard did and was the first team to score. Quarterback Larry Davis made several attempts at passing to receivers Loren Peacock and Steve Hines. Hines, on the fifteen yard line, narrowly missed an attempt to score on a long bomb pass by Davis from the 35. Dave Johnson recovered a fumble by a Glenbard receiver but the pass was ruled incomplete and the ball was dead. Things just didn't seem to be going right for the Rockets.

In the second half, Davis pulled a surprise play to Loren Peacock to score our first touchdown. The Hilltoppers then went on to score again ending the game with a score of 21-7.

As the presentation ceremony took place on the field after the game, Limestone fans couldn't help swelling with a feeling of pride for their Rockets. We were the State of Illinois Class 5-A Football Runners-Up!

"I feel that we did not live up to our expectations in volleyball this season. We had a hard time getting our act together which made the season move very slowly. The most exciting part of our season was winning a game now and then. There is a lot of talent on the team and we have a lot of fun together, but this year, we couldn't get ourselves started. Our biggest competitors were Morton and Metamora; they have some very good players.

Being the leader of the team and a senior, the coach expects leadership, good behavior, and encouragement for my teammates whenever we seem down or in a rough spot. My teammates are the greatest even though they all think I'm crazy. The type of feeling that we get whenever we win a match is like that in any other sport. We feel like we've accomplished something.

I started playing volleyball in the fourth grade after a P.E. teacher encouraged me to take it up. I've been at it ever since." — Dena Thompson

Manager Plays Final 42 Seconds!

"I love to play basketball whether it's organized or just goofing around. I really enjoy playing basketball because it is very competitive; I've been playing since second grade. The most important thing about basketball is playing as a team. When you are out there playing for yourself, or for the statistics, you might as well forget about having a good season. It takes teamwork to have a good season.

At the beginning of the season, I was told I would have to be a leader. Being a leader made me push in practice, made me try to do everything right, and made me show good sportsmanship.

The Quincy Notre Dame Tournament was very well organized for being the first one. We (the team) all felt great after winning the tournament, especially since it was the first tournament Coach Klobucher had ever won." — DAN CAMPBELL

"We had a real good season this year except for two meets, Normal High and Pekin. We really should have won the meet at Pekin, but things didn't go right for us.

My roll on the team was Captain. I shared that position with Lydell Gordon. We kept things under control, like at practices and meets. We helped the younger swimmers with their problems that usually go along with swimming. Our team really worked hard this year. I am glad that Limestone didn't cut swimming out of the sports program. Limestone has the only swimming team in the Mid-Illini Conference. I was really worried! Du Wee Engstrom was a big help this year as coach. He made things fun for us. Mr. Nafziger provided us with enthusiasm and good coaching that lasted throughout the year.

I wish that Limestone would provide the school and the swim team with a pool. We never get to practice enough. It is always a pain to have to travel to Hollis so we can practice swimming. Our team practiced about half as much as the other area teams. The swim team needs more girls! There are a lot of potential female swimmers here at Limestone who never try out. I wish that the swim team would get more support from the Limestone students. It would really help us if there was somebody cheering us on. My favorite swim is the breast-stroke. I have been swimming since I was eleven-years old. Ever since I have devoted much of my time to swimming. My advice for young swimmers, who hope to one day be on the swim team, is to swim all year around!"

- DAN HICKMAN -

Splash Away to a Successful Season

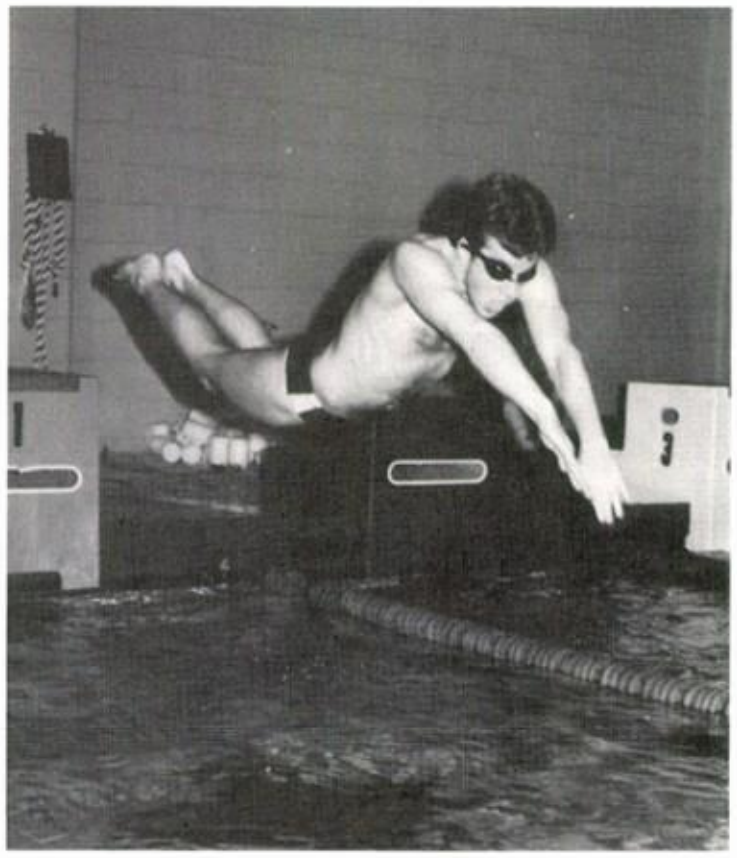
Most improved swimmer, Rich Wherley, demonstrates his breast-stroke.



Randy Eichorn was a key to the teams success this season.

Stacy Patton was one of two girls on the team.

Butterflying his way to a 1st place is Barry Irwin.

"Yes, Wally Sutphin, Scott Hooste, the other seniors, and I, consider ourselves leaders of the team. We help the younger varsity players when they have problems because we have already experienced some of the problems they are facing. The younger players who will replace us are really good; I'm proud of their progress.

I started playing baseball when I was 8 years old. I played summer ball in the minors, super minors, and majors. Before I was through with summer baseball, I had played every position on the diamond. All of the positions were all right except for first base. I hated playing first base because it was so boring. I like catching best of all. When you are a catcher, you are always involved with the game.

My most memorable game occurred in my sophomore year when I hit a home run, two doubles, and a single; I also knocked in eight runs for our team. The thing that was so funny is that I had been taken out during a horrible hitting slump. From then on, my season was great.

Orange and Schmitty are two great coaches. Both of them have helped me immensely. I'm especially glad that Mr. Schmitt is back coaching again. I have really enjoyed my years at Limestone. I will miss Limestone very much.

Finally, to the young baseball players, stick with it even though you may be in a slump. If you try and try again, you will succeed."

"I am really proud of our team this year; we played our hearts out! All of the girls were supportive of each other. We went through thick and thin and still managed to pull out another great season. Believe me, it was a team effort, not an individual effort at all.

I have played softball for four years at Limestone; my position is catcher. I love to play this position because it is never boring, especially with the great pitchers that we have like Dee Dee Fay and Pam Brown.

Mr. Sanders did a great job coaching us while Miss Dobrydnia wasn't feeling well. I am really happy that Miss Lou is feeling much better. We missed her so much during the season.

I would like to tell the younger players on the team to stick with softball because they will continue to have a lot of fun if they do. Thanks for the memories!" — LISA BAKER

Students Try New Fads And Ideas

Mrs. Johnson tries to capture the school lunch.

Are you that hungry, Mr. Kovalik?

Discover New Faces and New Friends

All right Charles, I'll take someone elses picture! This will teach you not to tear up my Captain Jinx and Salty Sam poster.

Turn around, brown eyes . . .

"Could I have a choo-choo train, huh, please?" says Dr. Endsley.

"Mirror, mirror on the wall, guess who is not going to be here next fall!

Seek New Challenges And Excitement

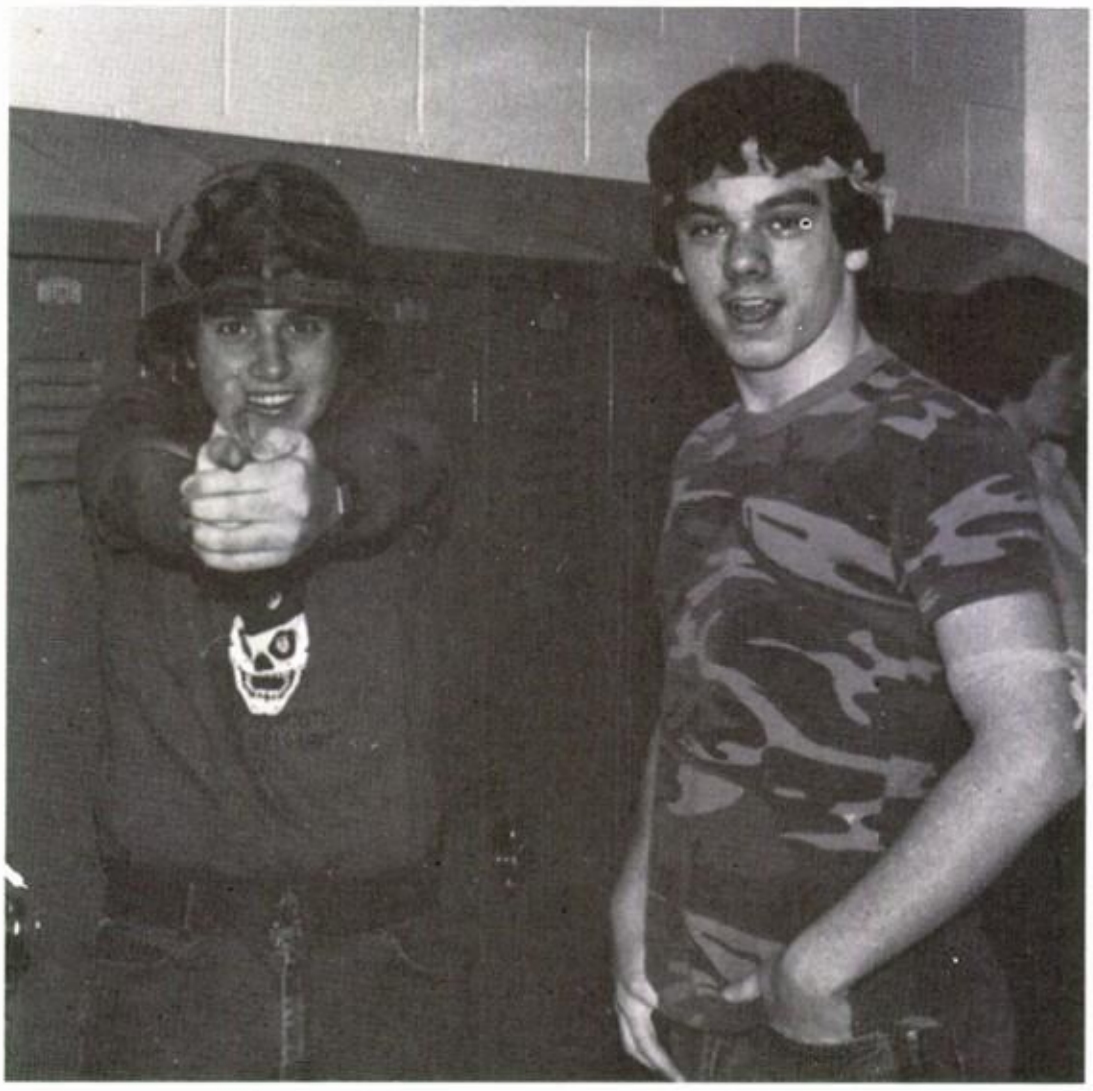
Come on Ed, can't you remember the words?

"Hey, where are the cigars?" Mrs. Buchna's class gives her a farewell party.



"We Want You!" Join The P.L.O. Today!

Don't give into him, Nikki!

Build Memories For A Lifetime

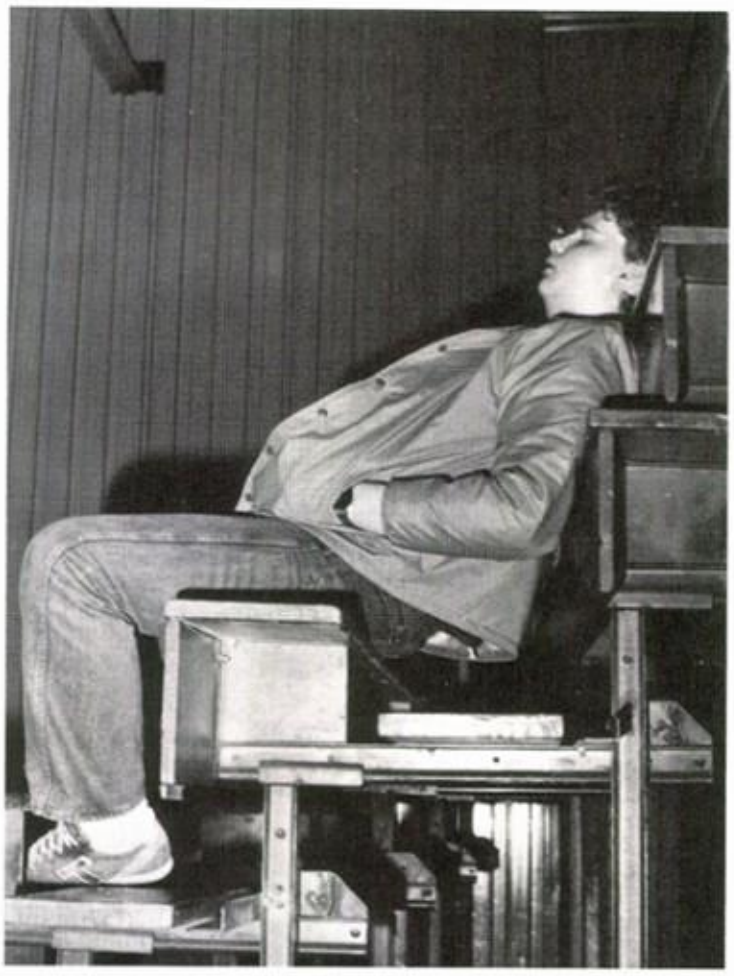
How do you spell relief?

Hey, Staci, where are your retainers?

Who's #37? Friend of yours?



Mrs. Crumrine gives Walter Scott a lecture on school loyalty.
